MURRAY ENDORSED BY ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

BELIEVE TO VOTE FOR MURRAY IS TO VOTE AGAINST RE-SUBMISSION.

State That if Prohibitionists Divide Their Vote Between Murray, Cruce and Kirk, Ross Will Receive Nomination.

Oklahoma City, Ok., July 16.—Thirty thousand letters will leave the Oklahoma Anti-Saloon League's headquarters next week, telling prohibitionists that a vote for William H. Murray of Tishomingo, Democratic candidate for governor, is a vote against resubmission and that a vote for Lee Cruce of Ardmore is a vote for resubmission of the liquor question. The league recommends that its adherents in the democratic party support Mr. Murray. On the republican ticket both Ferguson and McNeal were accepted as satisfactory, although, the league says, their positions are restricted in one respect.

Indorsements issued by the organization today were the result of several days' conference of the headquarters committee, after receiving personal replies from gubernatorial candidates, and while it was also intended to endorse a candidate for Attorney General, that now seems improbable. The official announcement among other things, says:

"The several candidates had previously been requested to state in writing their position upon the questions in which they were especially interested—prohibition, law enforcement and resubmission and the replies of those who responded were read and carefully considered. Of the democratic candidates, Mr. Ross is running on a straight license platform, with the three opponents—Murray, Cruce and Kirk—seeking to divide the prohibition vote.

"The situation is perilous. If the prohibitionists should divide their votes between Murray, Cruce and Kirk, Ross could obtain the nomination, although he should receive only a little more than 20 per cent of the democratic votes. He could be nominated by far less than the number who have signed the petition for resubmission already filed."

The league states that it had hoped ed Kirk would withdraw from the race ere this and it regards him as particularly unfriendly to the cause, although it says he makes the open statement that he is running as a prohibition candidate. From this the league concludes that the presence of Kirk in the race means the division of the prohibition vote, and adds that no prohibitionist can afford to waste a vote on this candidate. The official announcement continues:

"Statements were read from Mr. Cruce and Mr. Murray, which indicated that both stand for prohibition and law enforcement, but they differ radically on the question of resubmission, which is at this time the vital issue before us. Gov. Haskell, who from the beginning of the constitutional convention has most heroically and ably fought the battle of the prohibitionists, has taken the position that the twenty-one year clause in our constitution is binding, and, therefore, settles the prohibition question for that period of time.

"In harmony with this view, Gov. Haskell has not only declared himself to be personally opposed to resubmission, but has refused to call an election on the proposition until the court of last resort shall have decided such election to be constitutional and valid. In this position Gov. Haskell is sustained by the best lawyers of the land; they believe that this position of the governor's will be fully sustained by the courts.

"Furthermore, a resubmission election before such judicial construction of the twenty-one year clause, would settle nothing. The liquor interests with their millions of slush funds would, if permitted by the governor, initiate these elections over and over again, and keep the state constantly in turmoil and the anti-saloon forces at continued and great expense. But so long as we have a governor who holds the position taken by Gov. Haskell, our prohibition is secure.

"If however, we elect a governor who does not take this position, but consents to call such an election prior to such court decision, it is certain that we shall have resubmission during his administration.

"Mr. Cruce declares that he is in favor of prohibition and law enforcement and opposed to resubmission. However, he distinctly declared that notwithstanding his personal objection to resubmission, he would not refuse to submit the question if petitioned to do so. That the next governor will be confronted with such a petition is absolutely certain, because it is already on file and will be inherited from the present administration.

"Inasmuch as the most that the next governor can do for the anti-prohibitionists is to resubmit the question of prohibition, the position taken by Mr. Cruce on resubmission is satisfactory to them, and is evinced by the fact that nearly if not all of the anti-prohibition papers are supporting him, and many of the strongest leaders of the anti-prohibition element, who made the fight against prohibition three years ago, are his staunchest advocates. Therefore, notwithstanding Mr. Cruce's high standing as a man and his personal views favorable to prohibition, there is no escape from the conclusion that a vote for Cruce is a vote for resubmission.

"Mr. Murray takes the same position on the resubmission question which Gov. Haskell maintains, and says in his written statement, and has said repeatedly from the platform:

"I shall submit this question of prohibition in the form of a constitutional amendment for its repeal only when the highest court in the land has said that the twenty-one year clause for the Indian Territory is unconstitutional. I shall veto any effort of the legislature to repeal this law as long as it is a part of the constitution, and I shall favor no modification thereof, except to strengthen its enforcing provisions; and I shall enforce its provisions using every power of the state government, and if necessary, the militia of the state."

"Therefore, inasmuch as a vote for Murray is a vote against resubmission, and inasmuch as resubmission is the one vital issue of this campaign, it was moved and carried that the league recommend to its adherents in the democratic party to support Mr. Murray for the nomination for governor in the coming primaries.

"Moreover, Mr. Murray has the record, as president of the constitutional convention and as speaker of the house of representatives in the First Legislature, of having done more, perhaps, than any other man, except Gov. Haskell, toward placing prohibition in the constitution and statutes of this state.

"Among the republican candidates, C. G. Jones made no reply to the league's letter of inquiry, and was, therefore, upon motion eliminated from consideration.

"While John Fields declared for prohibition he also declared that he would resubmit the question upon being petitioned to do so. Accordingly he was not indorsed.

"T. B. Ferguson and J. W. McNeal were indorsed as being equally satisfactory in that they both stand for prohibition, for law enforcement and are personally opposed to resubmission, but neither expressed himself as to whether he would require a decision of the courts upon the constitutionality of the twenty-one year clause before submitting the prohibition question again to the people and the board was unable to find a sufficient reason for discriminating between the two candidates."

The letter is signed by George D. Conger, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and by C. L. Steele, Rev. J. M. Monroe, Rev. Thomas H. Harper, Rev. E. O. Whitwell, Rev. W. J. Moore and Rev. J. G. Street, headquarters committee of the league.

Denver, Col., July 18.—A merger or at least a working agreement with the United Mine Workers of America is the principal subject before the annual convention of the Western Federation of Miners, opened today. It is expected that President Moyer and Secretary Mills will be re-elected. Moyer was a defendant with Haywood and Pettibone in the sensational trial for the murder of former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, but was acquitted.

LOVE THE CHURCH BETTER THAN ANY OTHER INSTITUTION

SUNDAY MORNING'S SERVICE WAS FOR THE CHURCH AND CHURCH GOING.

Sunday Evening Saw One of the Most Magnificent Congregations Ever Seen in Ada.

The Union meeting has grown in interest till Saturday and Sunday evenings saw the most magnificent congregations ever seen at a service in Ada. The tent was packed and the space around the tent was crowded clear to Broadway and the streets were lined with vehicles from which a good many of those who were unable to obtain seats heard the sermon.

It is estimated that between fifteen hundred and two thousand people were in attendance on each of the last two nights.

The Sunday morning service was well attended notwithstanding the intense heat. At the service for men in the afternoon the big tent was filled with men who gave the very closest attention to the service and heartily indorsed what the evangelist said.

In the morning's sermon Rev. Hendrick spoke of the church as an institution which should be placed first, above, and loved better than any other institution. His subject was David's love for the church. "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go up to the house of the Lord."

The evangelist spoke in unmistakable terms relative to finding so many convenient excuses for staying away from the church, saying he had known people to move into a community and be there possibly a year before it was discovered that they were church members. To these people he referred as being no account in the community from whence they came and worthless anywhere. The minister believes that staying away from church on Sunday to entertain company or either going to church to study style instead of for devotion is an insult to God, saying one can get a blessing from a poor sermon if one's heart be in the service. His admonition is to keep up the church. It pays from a material, as well as a spiritual view point, "Every church spire advances real estate just that much." Don't take private troubles into the church. Too many people use the church as dogs use kennels, to sleep and growl in.

Carry the home spirit into the church, be friendly get acquainted and help bear the church's burdens was the sound advice of the preacher. "Is the young man safe?" was the subject for the men's service in the afternoon. His conclusions were drawn from history, sacred and profane, past and present, that the young man is not safe if he drinks, if he gambles if he swears, or if he steals or fails to keep the Sabbath holy. In short no man is safe who does not live a moral, upright and a Christian life.

Sunday night the judgment was discussed. He gave in support of his position that we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ, abundant scripture. We may escape the judgment of men but not of God and when the great days comes we shall stand before Christ a judge who cannot be bribed. As to those who have died—the righteous ones—he thinks are in a state of sweet, happy conscious rest in heaven, but not as yet have they been judged, and those who have died in sin are in a state of conscious condemnation.

A man must be judged for the way he has lived and for his influence and this can not be estimated until time for earth to pass away.

It is a solemn thing to trifle with God. You must give a personal account of yourself. Prepare to meet thy God, were among the truths declared and warnings sounded by the earnest evangelist last night.

OFFICERS SON TURNS BURGLAR

Probably Fatally Wounded While Trying to Enter a Hardware Store.

Hartshorne, Okla., July 17.—Grover Parsons, aged 22, son of the night chief of police; of Hartshorne, is expected to die as a result of wounds received Saturday night, when he and two other boys attempted to break into the Reynolds-McNeil hardware store.

Six attempts have been made recently to enter the store, and as a result either Reynolds or McNeil have slept there as a guard for the past two weeks. Saturday night the three boys broke out a glass in the front door and turned the key from the inside. As they entered, Alexander McNeil, one of the partners, both of whom were in the place, fired, thirteen buckshot taking effect in young Parsons' back.

The other two boys started running, and another shot was fired at them without effect. Their names, according to young Parsons, are Pat Woods and Ed Berry. Both were arrested. The wounded boy made a confession to his father. He is expected to die at any minute. Neither one of the partners will say which of the two fired the shot. Berry is the son of a constable.

ANOTHER CAPITAL SITE OPTION PREPARED

Oklahoma Railway Co. and Realty Men Back the Project.

Oklahoma City, July 17.—Another option on land for the location of the state capitol buildings is being prepared by between thirty and forty property owners near Linwood addition, and Tuesday morning an offer will be made to the state of 900 acres of land for the sum of $1, under condition that the capitol buildings be located on this property. This statement was given out by John W. Charrel, Arthur Davidor and several others, who own or control land in the immediate vicinity of the Linwood addition, which is four miles northwest of the business district.

The property owners who are interested in the offer to be made held a meeting in the offices of the Oklahoma railway company Saturday, and the details of the proposition were discussed and an agreement reached whereby 900 acres of land would be donated to the state, free of cost. The site to be offered is one-quarter of a mile south of the end of the Linwood car line, and adjoins the Linwood addition. There are to be no conditions to the offer, but the 900 acres are given free. The property is estimated to have a value of at least $2,000,000. John W. Shartel, vice president of the Oklahoma Railway company, is authority for the statement that the railway company has consented to construct a car line direct to the proposed capitol site, and install the best service possible into the business section of the city.

Mr. Shartel stated that an eleven minute service would be established double track of heavy steel and the best and most up to date interurban cars be run on the line. He proposes to extend the West Main car line to the northwest, to May avenue and to the proposed site, which route will give the most direct line to the city. The Oklahoma Railway company Anton H. Classen, president; John W. Shartel, vice president. Arthur Davidor, Homer Eller, L. D. Kight, H. R. Fisher, L. L. Land and thirty other property owners have consented to donate land.

Another meeting of the property owners will be held Monday in the offices of the Oklahoma railway company, when the offer will be signed by the donors of the land and a committee named to present it to Governor C. N. Haskell.

Cheyennes Holding Sun Dance.

Guthrie, Ok., July 16.—When the wife of Red Bird, the Cheyenne Indian chief, was sick last fall that Indian made a vow to the Great Spirit that if he would restore her to health, the Cheyennes would give in his honor a great sun dance. As such vows are held sacred by all members of the tribe immediately when the wife was restored the Cheyennes went to work and secured permission from the United States government to hold the dance.

Accordingly, 2,500 Indians, including a great many chiefs and medicine men, assembled during the past week at what is known as Big Jake's Crossing, on the North Canadian river, near Clinton. These Indians were not only of the Cheyenne tribe, but there were representatives from various tribes throughout the west, all taking an active part in the dance, which continued for three days and nights. The honors go to that brave who could dance the longest without eating or drinking. Clothed only with a gee-string, the old warriors chant the story of their battles while they dance for hours during the heat of the summer days. Among the guests of the Cheyennes were the Arapahoes, Sioux, Utes, Kiowas, Omahas, Poncas, Pawnees, Comanches and Osages.

SPAIN'S THRONE IS TOTERING

TROOPS HELD IN READINESS TO SUPPRESS EXPECTED UPRISING.

Discovery of Plot Against Life of Alfonso Part of the General Revolutionary Scheme.

Madrid, July 16.—The discovery of a revolutionary plot affecting every important city in Spain today startled the government and a meeting of all cabinet officers was immediately called by Postmaster General Canallajas for tomorrow.

The throne is tottering, according to authentic reports, and the government has ordered all troops in readiness for instant service.

The situation at Barcelona is more serious, according to semi-official statements, than it has been since the height of the riots following the execution of Francisco Ferrar.

The discovery of a plot on the life of King Alfonso yesterday at Valladolid, when he was en route to Segovia, is but a part of the general revolutionary scheme, but it is on that the order for the arrest of every known anarchist, issued today, is based.

The guard about the palace has been doubled, and the king's special bodyguard was today still further increased, in spite of his protestations.

The government's opposition to the Catholic church has done little to placate the extreme radicals, particularly at Barcelona, according to current reports.

Troops have been ordered for Jigon in preparation for a general strike called there, and the declaration of martial law at several places is expected within a short time.

OFF FOR TEN DAYS CRUISE.

President Taft Boards the Yacht Mayflower for Trip Along Coast.

Beverly, Mass., July 18.—President Taft today donned the uniform of commander-in-chief of the United States navy and will board the presidential yacht Mayflower for a ten-day cruise to Bar Harbor and other ports of call on the Maine coast.

Bar Harbor will be made the base, from which short sea trips will be made to near-by points. The party will sleep on board the yacht at night, but will probably go ashore at various places where the golfing looks good. One of the first stops will be made at Biddeford pool to take aboard Professor and Mrs. Louis More, the latter a sister of Mrs. Taft.

The entire party in addition to the President and Mrs. Taft and the Mores will include Miss Helen, Charley, Robert, Horace Taft, the president's brother, Secretary and Mrs. Norton, Captain Archie Butt, Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Miss Boardman and one member of the White House clerical force.

A convoy will follow the Mayflower inasmuch as it is regarded as too great a risk to have the president go to sea without assistance being in easy reach in case of accident.

UNCLE JOE IS OVERCOME BY HEAT

Speaker Falls Into Chair While

Speaking and Is Taken from Platform—Recovers Very Rapidly.

Winfield, Kan., July 17.—In the midst of a bitter attack on Victor Murdock, at whom he hurled defiance, "Uncle Joe" Cannon was overcome by the heat late Saturday afternoon.

He abruptly stopped speaking and sank into a chair, which fortunately stood near him. Friends rushed to his assistance and caught him as he appeared to be falling from his seat.

A glass of ice water was handed the speaker and he appeared to revive. In a few moments he was well enough to be escorted from the platform.

At midnight it was said that the speaker was very weak, but that he would recover from the effects of the prostration sufficiently to continue his speaking tour.

Later.

Winfield, Kan., July 17.—Despite the fact that he was overcome by the heat while delivering a Chautauque address here yesterday afternoon, Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the House of Representatives, was today feeling as vigorous as ever and despite the advice of friends determined to begin tomorrow a series of speeches in the Fourth Kansas congressional district.

UNITED STATES MAY WAR

UNLESS CONDITIONS CHANGE WILL USE "BIG STICK" ON NICARAGUA.

Prepares to Take Hand in Affairs and Send Marines is the Report.

Washington, July 16.—The United States is preparing to issue to the world these reasons why it will wield the "big stick" on Nicaragua unless conditions there are speedily bettered, it was officially reported today.

The gunboat Venus was released after being held up in a United States port on false statements by the Madriz government.

The bombardment of Prinzapuloa, an unfortified town, injured American interests and menaced the lives of American citizens.

The United States was flouted when William Pittman of Boston, Massachusetts, captured with the Estrada forces at Bluefields, was removed to Managua and ill-treated, in spite of Madriz's pledges to the United States.

Madriz has acted as trouble-maker in stirring anti-American feeling in Central and South America.

Dr. C. A. Burghelm of Texas has been detained without cause and held as prisoner of war. Americans in Western Nicaragua have been threatened with death or ruin.

The general opinion here is that the sending of the gunboat Vicksburg to Corinto, just announced by Secretary Knox, is the answer of the United States to the expected plea of recognition of Madriz. It is believed that the sending of marines to Nicaragua cannot be much longer avoided, and that when they go this time it will be in sufficient force and under orders to regulate affairs there with a firm hand.

Intervention by the United States is the only answer to the vexed Nicaraguan problem, experts on the Central American situation declare, and if the United States does not sto the rapidly growing condition of demoralization they will compel Germany or England to do so in spite of the Monroe doctrine.

Voters of the First ward of Ada will register at City Hall with A. D. Tanner. Second ward voters will register with John Van Meter at Dorland hotel. Third Ward voters will register with A. Kilpatrick at the court house and at the blue gin.

Fourth ward voters will register with W. C. Lee at his place of business on East Main. Yours respectfully,

HON. CLINT GRAHAM FOR ATTY. GENERAL

We take pleasure in placing before the people of Pontotoc county the name of Clint Graham of Marietta, Oklahoma, for the office of Attorney General of the state of Oklahoma.

In him we have one of the ablest constitutional lawyers of the state. He was a leading member of the constitutional convention of this state. He was in this convention chairman of the committee on private corporations and among many good things that he directly drafted into our laws were the following: a law prohibiting any public official from riding on a railroad pass; a law prohibiting the railroad corporations of the state from dealing in the coal and lumber of our state; a law requiring railroads to have separate coaches for whites and negroes, a law requiring separate schools for whites and negroes. He served the people of this state after statehood faithfully and honestly as speaker of the senate. He is the true type of Southern democracy, being reared in the State of Texas, early taught the lasting principles of democracy as expounded by Jefferson, being by nature an able, courageous and worthy citizen he has merited the good will and support of the democracy of this state.

Mr. Graham has completely routed the present incumbent of the office who has failed to meet him in joint discussions before the people that they may know the two men.

Clint Graham is entitled to and will receive the big majority of the democratic vote of this state on August 2, 1910. A vote for him means a vote for good government, the enforcement of law alike to all and a safe-guard of all legitimate interests in this state.

It is well known that Clint Graham stood by Ada in her fight for the normal school.

ATTY. GEN. CHAS. WEST HERE IN INTEREST OF RACE

Does Not Speak on Account of Revival Meeting Says Grandfather

Clause Will Carry Overwhelmingly.

Chas. West, attorney general of Oklahoma, is in Ada today in the interest of his candidacy for democratic renomination to such position. General West has many friends in Ada, which was attested in the vote he received for nomination three years ago. He intended to address the citizens of this section this afternoon or this evening, but since the big revival is in progress, he insists that he will not speak, when such action would be in competition.

The News was pleased to receive a call from General West and invited him to say something in connection with the politics of the state, and incidentally, his more personal interests in such connection. He said:

"The judgments rendered by the state in Pullman and Western Union tax cases and in Waters-Pierce Oil case sufficiently established in the minds of the people the efficiency of his office, and particularly it was appreciated that in the oil case at Enid the Oil company is regulated as to its prices and gives no opportunity to buy the property back and come back into the state under a new name to do the same kind of business as in Texas.

Wherever I go, I find a very strong sentiment for my detention in office.

I find that the sentiment for the enactment of the grandfather clause is overwhelming, even in the republican part of the state.

The people apparently appreciate the fact that my office is free from any combination whatsoever.

The extreme importance of the litigation of the state has allowed me but a very short time for the campaign, but in my opinion the people will be better pleased at the course I have followed by first getting the litigation in shape before I took the stump. The reception of me wherever I go is so much heartier than it was three years ago, that I have no doubt at all as to my success.

EDITOR LOSES JOB BECAUSE FOR ROSS

FIRED BY SHAWNEE HERALD

WHEN THAT PAPER FLOPS

FROM ROSS TO CRUCE—VISITS

ADA IN INTEREST OF ROSS.

Regards That Ross Will Capture

Cruce's Old City Vote and Also,

Some Farmer Antis.

Hon. Loyd C. Cullison, who until lately, when the Shawnee Herald changed its editorial and news support from Col. Leslie P. Ross to Hon. Lee Cruce was such paper's staff and political correspondent, and who states he was requested to resign on account of his refusal to change his personal support from Col. Ross, is in the city in the interest of the Lawton man, canvassing and distributing literature. Mr. Cullison was introduced to the News by its friend, Judge C. A. Galbraith, who accompanied him through the business district in introductory courtesy, and there is pleasure in publishing an interview with Mr. Cullison, both for the reason of the fact of Judge Galbraith introducing him and his own substantial standing among the leaders of the democratic party in Oklahoma. Mr. Cullison said:

"My private opinion, based on travel all over the entire state, and from reporting each speech made by each and every candidate in the recent debates, and from the fact that the Anti-Saloon League, signed by its official heads has endorsed Bill Murray, that the race now lies between Bill Murray and Leslie P. Ross.

It is an impossibility almost for any man who knows politics to get a Bill Murray man to vote for any one else, and as much can also be said for Mr. Ross, while the Cruce men all over the state are on the fence, and you can hear said on every corner by the Cruce men that if they thought that Mr. Ross had a chance for the nomination they would vote for him because it was anything to beat Murray.

"Mr. Murray has a natural following, and has had for many years, and is especially strong among the farmers, while Cruce's strength has been mainly in the cities and town above 3000, or to say the least, he is stronger in these town than Murray has ever been. In those very same cities lies the strength of the Lawton man. I could give a score of towns over the state where there are Ross Clubs upward of 3000 members, and Murray naturally has not lost the farmers, on the other hand Cruce has lost that strength gained by Ross. Ross will carry seventy-five per cent of the one-half of the 63,000 sons of Washington, which would be a natural strength of 27,000 so both Ross and Murray would have a strong natural following and an impossibility to draw away from. Now how about Cruce?"

"I tell you positively that the sensation created in Oklahoma City Saturday by the Anti-Saloon League, endorsing William H. Murray as their leader on the democratic side was like a boom shell. It showed conclusively. The governor has evidently lost his pull with the Anti-Saloon League, and, in my mind, there is no question but what he and his organization is supporting Lee Cruce or has been. Strong democrats in Oklahoma City came to our headquarters, and almost to a man said we must beat Bill Murray, with either Ross or Cruce, and we believe that Ross has a stronger natural following than Mr. Cruce. You will find this sentiment all over the state among the voters, but not among the politicians, who of course have to hold up a brave front. When Mr. Ross first started his stock was low, but he has gained by leaps and bounds, and even right here in Pontotoc county, where Mr. Cruce is supposed to be strong, you will find, and any man who knows politics will tell you, that Mr. Ross will get a large vote right here. Some predict he will carry the county, but I can't say as to that, so it can be readily seen by an impartial man that Mr. Ross, to say the least, will not lose any strength, and the Anti-Saloon League's endorsement of Mr. Murray has undoubtedly assisted him, and where does Mr. Cruce come in at?"

"You can hardly believe that the Ross men will turn to Cruce, but with a little reflection you can positively see where a Cruce man will go to Ross to beat Bill Murray, and you will.

"Mr. Cruce personally is a fine man but in this race it is a question of politics, and it is now down to prohibition and anti-prohibition, and Ross by the anti-prohibition movement, and Mr. Cruce will try his best

ROME WILL ASK FOR CHARLTON

TURN IN THE COMO MURDER CASE IS LOOKED FOR THIS WEEK.

Man Is Charged With Killing His Wife in Italy—Corpse Was Found in Lake Como.

Washington, July 17.—Developments in the Porter Charlton extradition case are expected at the state department this week following their receipt from Rome of the formal application for the removal of the young American to Italy on a charge of murdering his wife at Lake Como. State department officials have declined to discuss the attitude of this government.

This reticence applies to the inquiry as to what the United States will do in the event Italy refuses to grant extradition under similar circumstances, namely, when one of its subjects is charged with committing a crime in America and escapes to Italy, as well as to all other subjects involved in the exchange.

On the subject of the principle of the necessity for reciprocity in the exchange of persons with in their jurisdiction, Acting Secretary of State Wilson expressed his views in 1907. The views were made public today quite incidentally, as a part of the "foreign relations of 1907." In that year there arose the question of removing F. L. Jacobs, an American, from France to Argentina. In stating the position of the United States Mr. Wilson in a letter to consul general Skinner said:

"Suppose there were no extradition treaty in force between the United States and France and this country should ask for the extradition of fugitive who had committed some crime in the United States and fled to France, the French government would grant the same if the United States would promise that it would surrender a fugitive from French justice charged with the same crime, should the case arise. This promise the United States would be compelled to refuse to make, following the decision in United States vs. Rauscher, since no extradition treaty authorized the surrender. France, therefore, would refuse to honor the department's request because this government could not promise reciprocity."

AUDITING BOOKS AND RECORDS OF COUNTY JUDGE

Mr. J. F. Kehoe, who has been for some time ferreting taxes, is now auditing the books and accounts of the county judge from statehood up to July 1, 1910.

Up to the first of July, Judge Terrell was both judge and clerk of the county court and had full charge of all records and deposits. Under the new law, on July the first, he made his final report as clerk of the county court, and appointed Mr. F. C. Sims, clerk of county court, who had heretofore been deputy, and turned over to him all records and deposits. After this the county judge will sustain the same relation to the clerk of the county court as the district judge does to the district clerk. In other words, the county judgeship and the county clerkship will be two separate and distinct offices.

Mr. Kehoe was appointed to audit the books and records of the county judge by the state examiner and inspector, after Judge Terrell's having repeatedly requested the office to be audited over twelve months previously.

RAILWAYS PREPARE TO COPE WITH STRIKE

Elaborate Plans to Have Other Men to Take the Strikers Places.

Philadelphia, July 17.—Hope that the conference Monday between the members of their committee and General Manager Myers of the Pennsylvania Railway company would make a strike impossible was expressed today by A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railroad Conductors, and W. G. Lee, head of the Brotherhood of Trainmen.

Mr. Lee declared his belief that the ten-hour standard the men ask for could be put into effect by the company without making any sacrifice.

The Pennsylvania officials had no statement to give out today. The officers appeared hopeful that Monday's conference may end in an understanding that will avert the threatened strike, but nevertheless they are continuing their preparations to cope with the emergency of a walk-out. Elaborate plans for the housing of men to take the place of the strikers are being put into effect and other employees of the company are being prepared to take the place of strikers.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SERVICE TOMORROW MORNING

On last evening Rev. Hendrick made announcement that there would be a service at ten o'clock tomorrow morning especially for the young people under sixteen years age. All people being welcome, but the young people to occupy the front seats.

Among the things the minister desired to be contributed to aid in the service were the following: Ten vases, a quart and a pint fruit jar, a lantern, candles, a pair scissors, ten tin pans, deck of cards and an empty whiskey bottle. All the above articles were readily provided save the last two. Maybe they are not in Ada? The evangelist suggested that if a friend had left a deck of cards with you two or three years ago that he would like to have the use of them long enough to burn them up.

MOB HUNTING NEGRO BRUTE

Kept White Girl in School House all Night—Was Captured at Tishomingo—Spirited Away by Sheriff.

Kingston, Okla., July 16.—Saved by the quick wit of Sheriff R. Webb of Marshall county, Squire Allen, a negro, who Thursday night assaulted Lulu Daniels, a pretty 22-year-old farmer girl, is somewhere in southwestern Oklahoma, while a baffled and infuriated mob is making threats against the officer and swearing they will lynch the negro if they can lay hands on him.

Tonight the mob is searching the entire country for the sheriff and his prisoner. Leaders of the mob say they will take the negro from the sheriff at any cost.

Allen forced the girl to accompany him to a school house, kept her there all night at the point of a revolver and gaged her when she attempted to call out to passing friends.

Allen was captured at Tishomingo after a two days' search. A mob formed to lynch him early Saturday morning.

Webb spirited the prisoner away from under the very eyes of the mob while they were attempting to storm the jail Saturday. There is no indication of where the sheriff has gone with his prisoner.

REMOVAL OF POSTOFFICE WON'T HURT EAST SIDE.

It is sincerely trusted that there shall be no feeling of any disturbing nature between the business citizens who would have preferred to have seen the postoffice for the next five years retained at or near its present location and those who invited its removal to the location of its early removal. Ada has become too large and compact for the location of a postoffice to have but a very nominal and temporary effect on trade or realty values.

The city will soon have free delivery and the postoffice could scarcely be worth any considerable amount as a business adjunct to any part of the community.

FLOOD NOT VERY SERIOUS.

Wall of Water Filled Town But With No Great Damage.

Los Angeles, July 16.—Meager reports from Bisbee, Ariz., late this evening state the damage from heavy rains that caused a flood to sweep down on the town last night is slight. Bisbee is situated in a canyon. Unusually heavy rains converted the streets into veritable rivers. Practically all communication between Bisbee and Douglas has been cut off, and but brief messages were received. Heavy windstorms near Gila, Ariz., at 6 o'clock tonight blew down telegraph wires and destroyed lines between this point and Phoenix.

Heat Kills Three McAlester Men.

McAlester, Okla., July 17.—George Crowder, a negro, aged 40, working in a brickyard, died from heat prostration Sunday. "Scotty" Davis, a tailor, aged 45, was overcome by the heat Saturday evening and died at midnight. One hundred degrees was reached here both days.

What is believed to be the third death from heat prostration in two days, occurred here Sunday. "Cocaine Bob," a character here for ten years who never disclosed his real name, was found dead in his hotel. He was highly educated and one time possessed wealth, but addiction to the drug habit made him a rag picker.

TO DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF PONTOTOC COUNTY

Fellow Democrats:

The primary is almost here, and I wish once more to impress upon you the importance of seeing that every voter who believes in a white man's government is at the polls to aid in the adoption of the "Grandfather Amendment." Upon the result of this election depends the future of this state. If we lose it means a great tide of negro immigration to Oklahoma and corresponding decrease of desirable white settlers, a condition of affairs none of us wants to see. Republicans and Socialists are combined against us, and now the message we would have carried to every democrat in the county is: "Democracy expects every member of the party to do his full duty."

BYRON NORRELL,
County Chairman.

Farmed Lands.

An exhaustive census investigation of farm interests throughout the United States showed that in the last ten years the total number of farms has increased 18 per cent. In the older states, from Ohio eastward, there has been going on for 20 years a tendency toward the amalgamation of farms distant from market into larger holdings. There are now almost three times as many farms as in 1870, and an unprecedented increase in the value of farm lands and live stock is the even more momentous fact revealed by this inquiry. The land in farms, with their buildings, improvements and live stock, is today almost $30,000,000,000, a gain of 44 per cent. in ten years. Present values are 2 1/2 times the farm values of 30 years ago. In the north central states the increase in the value of farms is 48 per cent.; in the south central states, 58 per cent.; in the north Atlantic, 18 per cent.; and in the south Atlantic, 34 per cent.

Use of Magnets in Flour Mills.

Explosions are often caused in flour mills and breweries by nails or other iron particles that find their way in the grain and which when they strike the steel rolls of the mills produce sparks and ignite the finely pulverized material about them.

Recently a large malting concern that has been troubled by many such explosions installed a set of electro-magnets over which the grain is passed before being prepared for shipment to the breweries. All iron particles in the grain are picked up by the magnets and 800 to 1,000 bushels of grain are cleaned an hour. When the magnets have collected a large amount of metal they are swung to one side, de-energized and swept clean of any particles adhering to them by residual magnetism. Since the installation of these magnets there have been no explosions in the mills.—Scientific American.

She Got the Money.

Comtesse de Martel, the well-known novelist, who writes under the name of "Gyp," has a pretty wit. She was on one occasion assisting at a charity bazaar in Paris, to which came Baron Rothschild as a visitor. The writer immediately pressed him to buy something. "What am I to buy?" said the wealthy nobleman. "You have nothing I want. Stay, I have an idea. Sell me your autograph. I should like that. Without delay the lady took a sheet of note paper and wrote: "Received from Baron Rothschild the sum of one thousand francs for charity.—Gyp." The baron read, handed over the money willingly, and departed well pleased with the comtesse's ingenuity.

Off the Banks

By Charles Daly Douglas

Perhaps the saddest reminiscence of my varied life is connected with a fishing excursion off the Newfoundland banks. I owned a yacht, and as soon as I proposed the trip to my friends, I had no difficulty in finding plenty who were willing and anxious to accompany me. I chose a round dozen choice spirits, who I knew had the necessary qualifications to make such an excursion pleasant. A happier party never set sail from any port than the yacht carried on this occasion. Singing, music, story-telling, and playing filled up the hours, and when we met around the well-spread table the hilarity was renewed. We had rather a disagreeable passage to the banks, with frequent rains and smart gales, but our skipper and crew were perfectly reliable, and we had as little apprehension of disaster as of any other misfortune.

The winds at last lulled, the sea grew tranquil, and the captain reported that we should be off the fishing grounds the next morning. I well remember the unbounded mirth and fun of that night. We got out our tackle and overhauled it in order to be fully ready for the sport; and when that was done, with the cross-fire of jokes and quips that accompanied it, we made merry with song, story and other cheer till far into the morning. When we went to sleep it was with the highest anticipations of the coming sport.

"Good weather, I hope, captain?" was the cry that saluted the latter as he appeared at the breakfast table next morning.

"I'm afraid I can't say much for the weather at present," was the reply. "We ran into a fogbank about daylight and we don't seem likely to get out of it till the weather clears. A fog is about the last thing I expected to find up here at this season of the year; but here we are, right in it. I hope it'll clear, however, during the morning."

Somewhat disappointed at this intelligence, we ate but little, and then went on deck. I thought I had seen fogs before in different quarters of the world, but never had I witnessed anything like this. The air was cold, raw, and heavy with moisture, and the fog so dense that we could hardly see the length of the yacht. A servant was sent below for shawls and cloaks, and we sat at, shivering in our wraps, and feeling as gloomy as was natural under the circumstances. One of us produced some cigars, which were passed around and lighted, and under the influence of the weed, we grew more companionable, and even began to propose small bets as to the hour the unwelcome fog would lift.

The captain now came aft, and asked me if there was anything like a fog-bell among the rubbish in the forward hold. I told him there was one. I remembered one foggy night in the Grecian Archipelago when it sounded dolefully all night over my head, and prevented my sleeping, and that the company the next morning had voted the thing a nuisance, and directed it to be taken down. I believe it had never been hung since. "We'll have it put up and set it going at once," said the captain, as he turned away. "It is probably an over-precaution, as we are far out of the steamer-track, and there's not wind enough to give headway to anything with sails. But we'll set the thing going, for perfect safety. Ho, there, forward! Hoist up the big bell from the hold, and hang it on that fixture by the mast."

He turned away to see that his orders were executed, and at that instant our doom fell upon us, without a cry, a noise, or any warning whatever to herald it.

The great, high bow of one of the ocean steamers appeared as suddenly as though she had risen from the sea, or descended from the skies, and struck us amidships with a crash that cleft the little yacht completely in twain.

The two halves of the ill-fated vessel rose up fore and aft, and she settled amidships.

I heard a shriek—a prolonged cry of horror and despair, mingled with the rush of the water and the puffing of smoke as the steamer's engine was reversed. I was conscious of a tremendous shock, a blow, and a great black mass gliding above me, and I was conscious of nothing further until I woke to life in the saloon of the steamer, lying on a sofa, with a crowd of sympathetic gentlemen and ladies about me, applying restoratives and chafing my hands.

Except a few bruises I was not injured in body, and was walking the deck of the steamer soon after, with such mingled feelings of thankfulness for my own escape, and bitter grief for the fate of my poor companions, as no words of mine can describe.

I have been awakened in the dead of night from a peaceful slumber to find the roof over our head blazing in a sheet of flame; I have been hurled with a train of cars down a steep embankment when traveling at a rate of 40 miles per hour; I have been deliberately shot at in the street by a maniac, the ball grazing my cheek; but nothing has ever happened to me that seemed to fall so suddenly, so mysteriously, like the swift hand of doom itself, as that dreadful tragedy off the Newfoundland banks.

The miracle of the pipping chick is now being enacted in many an incubator.
